Brief Introduction / Bio

Owen is a local from Niagara On the Lake, Ontario. He's the owner and operator of Biophilic World Hiking Tours since 2017, a local hiking tour company specializing in getting people outside to experience the Niagara's peninsula's incredible ecosystems.

He successfully thru-hiked the 890 km Bruce Trail on a 37 day expedition in 2014, raising funds for local charities in the process.

He's the producer of four "Hidden Corners" international nature documentaries, including one on Niagara, and an official Ted Talk speaker.

When he graduated from the University of Guelph in 2016 with a Bsc. Biodiversity, he was a published scientific co-author and nature photographer.

Owen enjoys ping pong, hockey, music, and wine when he's not out in the woods.

Cheers, to the celebrated relationship between nature and wine - an unrivaled pairing in Niagara.
